New Hope For Early End To Farmer Strike

SASKATOON (CP)—Hope brightened today for an early settlement of the three-week-old delivery strike by an estimated 50,000 farmers in Saskatchewan and Alberta as leaders of the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan) and the Alberta Farmers' Union agreed to take their demands to the Federal Agriculture Prices and Support Board.

Following a meeting of the two organizations' executives here Monday, it was announced a delegation would go to Ottawa.

The joint delegation leaving for the capital today includes Mr. Stimpfle, U.F.C. president F. T. Appleby, A. R. Hedlund and W. G. Logan, officials of the Alberta Union, and G. R. Bickerton, publicity and research director of the U.F.C.

In Ottawa they will meet with J. T. Taggart, chairman of the Agricultural Prices and Support Board, and members John Booth and A. M. Shaw, both Agriculture Department officials.

In agreeing to deal with the federal board, the farm leaders accepted the invitation made last Wednesday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Mr. Gardiner at that time suggested the existing board could do "all or more" than the farmers requested.

The strike started in Alberta

Sept. 6 after A.F.U. president Carl J. Stimpfle and his executive had won overwhelming support from the union's 20,000 members on a referendum which demanded:

Establishment of a fact-finding board to determine parity prices for farm supplies and products, and board to consist of representatives of organized farmers, businessmen, labor and government;

A wheat price of $1.55 a bushel for farmers, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William;

"Satisfactory" floor prices for livestock, poultry and dairy products;

Abolition of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange;

Adjustment of freight rates;

Withdrawal of the three-cent federal tax on gasoline.

Lieut-Governor Takes Office

Charles A. Banks, left, who became Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia at a swearing-in ceremony at 9.45 this morning, shakes hands with the retiring Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. W. C. Woodward, who leaves office after serving through the strenuous war years. Premier John Hart is in the center.

First official act of Lieutenant-Governor Banks was to swear-in Hon. George S. Pearson to his additional cabinet post of Minister of Health and Welfare.

Charles Arthur Banks, 61-year-old mining magnate, was formally sworn in at 9.45 this morning as Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

The new Lieutenant-Governor took his oath of office from Chief Justice Gordon Sloan at a ceremony at Government House. As his first official act as Lieutenant-Governor, His Honor swore in Labor Minister and Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson as Minister of Health and Welfare.

The ceremony was attended by Hon. and Mrs. W. C. Woodward who have occupied Government House since 1941. Mrs. Banks, Premier John Hart and eight members of the provincial executive council. Immediately after he was sworn in the new

Russian Judge Lodges Protest At Life Term For Hess; Wants Death

NUERNBERG (AP)—The International Military Tribunal today decreed death on the gallows for 12 leaders of the Hitler gang, sentenced seven to prison, and—with Russia dissenting—acquitted three defendants.

The court, after sentencing to death Herman Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop and 10 other Nazi henchmen, announced that Russia had protested against the tribunal's acquittal of Franz von Papen, Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche. The Soviet judge, Maj.-Gen. I. T. Kikitchenko, also protested that Rudolf Hess should have been hanged instead of receiving the life imprisonment sentence the court handed him, and objected to Monday's acquittal of the general staff and high command.

(In Berlin Reuter's News Agency announced the Allied Control Council had ruled that the death sentences will be carried out in Nuernberg Oct. 16.)

Judges of Britain, the United States and France joined in the majority opinion, which now will be carried out by the Allied Control Council, representing all four Allies.

Legal officials of the American Military Government said that if any of the three Nazi leaders acquitted were returned to the United States zone of occupation they probably would be tried by Germans under the zone's Denazification Law.

The officials said that because Schacht and Von Papen owned property in more than one zone it was conjectured to which they might be returned. Legal experts in Berlin expressed belief the Russians might get custody of Fritzsche, whom they arrested in Berlin and delivered to Nuernberg for trial.

U.S. Prosecutor Regrets Acquittals

Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief United States prosecutor, expressed regret that "the tribunal has felt constrained to acquit Schacht and Von Papen and to decline to declare the criminality of the general staff." He said in a formal statement that "the effect of these acquittals on the further prosecution of industrialists and militarists which have been planned will have to be studied from the text of the opinion."

Each defendant was sentenced individually.

Goering was first. He strode into the courtroom flanked by two military policemen. His grey suit hung limply about his once ample figure. Chief Justice Lawrence looked sternly down from the bench and sentenced the No. 2 Nazi to death by hanging. Under the glare of the lights, Goering's face was immobile.

Grey and sickly, Von Ribbentrop stood stunned as the death sentence was pronounced. He had to be helped out by military policemen.

Others sentenced to death were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Alfred Rosenberg, Hans Frank, Wilhelm Frick, Julius Streicher, Fritz Sauckel, Col.-Gen. Alfred Jodl, Arthur Seyss-Inquart and Martin Bormann (in absentia).

Rudolf Hess, third ranking German until his strange wartime flight to Scotland, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Also sentenced to life were Walther Funk and Grand Admiral Erich Raeder.

Those acquitted were Franz von Papen, the old grey diplomat who led intrigues in both world wars; Hjalmar Schacht, the German finance wizard; and Hans Fritzsche, deputy propaganda minister for Paul Joseph Goebbels, a suicide.

Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who surrendered Germany and was Fuehrer in the last few days of the war, received a 10-year sentence.

Schirach, Speer Given 20 Years

Baldur von Schirach, Hitler Youth leader, and Albert Speer, German munitions minister, both were sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Constantin von Neurath, former German Foreign Minister and later "Protector of Bohemia and Moravia," was given 15 years.

Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding justice, announced the dissenting opinion of the Soviet member would be attached to the record and published as soon as possible. The Soviet judge is Maj.-Gen. I. T. Nikitchenko.

HERMANN GOERING

The defendants have four days in which to appeal to the Allied Control Council, their court of last resort. This council, representing Britain, the United States, Russia and France in the government of Germany, has authority over the executions, which are expected Oct. 16 unless an appeal for clemency is granted, and there seemed little chance of that. All defence lawyers had announced they would appeal in the event of death sentences against their clients.

Goering's expression did not change as the tribunal judged him guilty of all four counts. Hess did not even look up from his scribbling pad as the court read the verdict in his case, conviction on two counts.

Ribbentrop slumped in his seat when told he was found guilty of all.

Hess' Abnormality Found No Excuse

Of Hess, the tribunal had this to say:

"That Hess acts in an abnormal manner, suffers from loss of memory and has mentally deteriorated during this trial may be true. But there is nothing to show that he does not realize the nature of the charges against him or is incapable of defending himself. There is no suggestion that Hess was not completely sane when the acts charged against him were committed."

The tribunal consumed almost 1,000 words in dooming Keitel, who gulped, lowered his sharp Prussian chin a moment as he listened and then stared blankly ahead.

Hangman Heydrich's Gestapo successor, Kaltenbrunner, kept nodding his head as Justice Lawrence read his conviction. He still looked the toughest man in the dock.

The tribunal, while acquitting Kaltenbrunner of conspiring to wage aggressive war, castigated him for crimes against humanity and war crimes.

Rosenberg adjusted his spectacles and wriggled nervously as the Tribunal turned to him.

"Rosenberg is responsible for a system of organized plunder of both public and private property throughout the invaded countries of Europe," the Tribunal said. "Rosenberg had knowledge of the brutal treatment and terror to which the eastern peoples were subjected."

United States Justice Francis Biddle then turned to Hans Frank, the tough hatchet man who ruled Poland with blood and iron.

While finding Frank innocent of plotting aggressive war, Justice Biddle in measured tones declared: "It is also true that Frank was a willing and knowing participant in the use of terrorism in Poland, in the economic exploitation of Poland and in a way which led to death by starvation of a large number of people; deportation to Germany as slave laborers of over 1,000,000 Poles, and in a program involving the murder of at least 3,000,000 Jews."

Wilhelm Frick, bullet-headed follower of Hitler since 1923, was described bluntly as "an avid Nazi, always rabidly anti-Semitic" and drafter of the infamous Nuernberg decrees against the Jews. The court said he was responsible for policies in occupied Czechoslovakia and the "Germanization" idea elsewhere.

The tribunal frankly discounted Walther Funk's contention that he was unaware that gold teeth of concentration camp victims were deposited in his Reichsbank vaults.

As commander of U-boats, the Tribunal said Admiral Doenitz was more than an ordinary figure in war planning.

Hitler Frequently Talked With Doenitz

"Doenitz was consulted almost continuously by Hitler," the judgment said.

In two instances, the court listed mitigating circumstances for the admiral, saying that in view of all the circumstances of naval warfare, he could not be held guilty for his conduct of submarine warfare and that British naval prisoners of war were treated according to the Geneva Convention.

The judgment indicated Admiral Raeder convicted himself by admitting breaches of the Versailles Treaty.

Baldur von Schirach leaned forward as the tribunal found him innocent of conspiracy, but sagged as the court said he was guilty of crimes against humanity as gauleiter of Vienna.

Turning to Sauckel, the verdict said "there is no doubt that Sauckel had over-all responsibility for the slave-labor program."

In Jodl's conviction on all counts the tribunal ruled as it had in that of Keitel, commenting:

"His defence is the doctrine of superior orders—there is nothing in mitigation. Participation in such crimes as these has never been required of any soldier and he cannot now shield himself behind a mythical requirement of soldierly obedience at all costs as his excuse."

Bormann Guilty Of Enslaving Workers

The missing Martin Bormann was acquitted on the conspiracy count, since, the court said, he was comparatively low in the Nazi party but he was held guilty of participation in the slave labor program, persecution of Jews, shooting of Allied fliers, and other crimes of war, and crimes against humanity.

Seyss-Inquart was acquitted only of the conspiracy charge. He was described as "ruthless in applying terrorism to suppress all opposition to the German occupation" in the Netherlands, where he was gauleiter, and convicted of slave deportations and persecutions of Jews.

Armaments producer Speer was convicted of knowingly using slave labor and impressing some concentration camp inmates into small out-of-the-way industries behind Himmler's back.

Schacht, Freed, Says No Laws Now In Germany

HJALMAR SCHACHT

NUERNBERG (AP)—Hjalmar Schacht, freed of war crimes charges by the International Military Tribunal, told reporters tonight there appeared to be "neither laws nor free opinion" in occupied Germany today.

Schacht appeared with the other two acquitted German leaders, Hans Fritzsche and Franz von Papen, at a turbulent press conference, and was asked whether he now expected to be tried by a German court.

The belligerent Nazi finance wizard replied that in the days before Hitler "there were laws and free opinion," but that "there appeared to be neither laws nor free opinion now."

UPROARIOUS SCENES

At this point the conference broke into an uproar. French and Belgian correspondents shouted and yelled and scrambled about the pressroom.

The conference broke up a few minutes later, with Schacht offering to sell his autograph, which some French correspondents were asking, in return for chocolate "for my children."

Before the conference became pandemonium, Schacht said he hoped to go to his family and disappear, "where the press would never find me again."

Hull Has Stroke

Go To Vancouver To Negotiate On Gordon Head Land

Mayor Percy George, Ald. Edward Williams, and Ald. B. J. Gadsden will leave for Vancouver tonight to negotiate directly with War Assets Corporation for the purchase of the 37.5 acres of naval property at Gordon Head, it was decided today at a joint meeting of the finance and airport committees.

The meeting was attended by R. W. Mayhew, M.P., R. H. B. Ker, and W. A. Scott of the Memorial Airpark Association, together with three other members.

The City Council at its meeting Monday asked War Assets Corporation for a 30-day option on the property so that time could be obtained to discuss the manner in which its purchase could be financed. In reply to day, War Assets suggested that the city should make a "reasonable offer," pointing out that the recognized value of the property was in the neighborhood of $25,000, while the city's first offer was only approximately $7,500.

'FIRST REFUSAL'

R. W. Mayhew explained to the meeting that since 1942 the ministers of defence have had on file a request that before any of the Gordon Head property is disposed of by the federal government the city of Victoria be given first refusal. "You have been covered every step of the way," he said.

Mr. Mayhew also denied categorically that he had at any time suggested that the city should abandon the Gordon Head airport project. "I have constantly recommended that the city acquire this property," he declared. "It can be developed as the air force veterans want it without in any way interfering with Patricia Bay. I am writing to Mr. Howe to explain exactly what is wanted here. It will be helpful to the whole scheme of development of air transport to have many air-parks in all communities so that young flyers can be trained, and air force men can keep their hand in."

He strongly recommended that the city should acquire the property, while warning the committees that they could not expect gifts from the Dominion government, as no special concessions could be made to Victoria.

U.S. Mediterranean Fleet To Continue Backing Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. navy took the "good will" label off its sea forces in the Mediterranean today and frankly called them instruments of American policy in that strategic area where Russia and the West collide.

Secretary Forrestal, in an unusual policy declaration, which was cleared in advance by the State Department, set up the following as main reasons for keeping U.S. sea power in evidence in the Mediterranean and eastern Atlantic:

"First, to support the allied occupation forces and the Allied Military Government in the discharge of their responsibilities in the occupied areas of Europe. Second, to protect U.S. interests and to support U.S. policies in the area."

The navy chief at the same time made it clear that these assignments are a long way from finished.

This was accomplished by his announcement that when the great aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt finishes the Mediterranean cruise that started out as a good will tour and training exercise, she will be followed from time to time by a succession of other flag-tops.

Actually the U.S. naval operations in the Mediterranean in past months have been serving the policy purposes no matter what their label.

The new statement of the fleet's task coincides with the sharpening of three issues in that area, topped by U.S. determination to back Turkey against new Russian demands on the Dardanelles. The other two are Greek troubles with Soviet-supported neighbors, and the continuing Yugoslav pressure to dislodge the western powers from Trieste.

Forrestal's statement said that in addition to the Franklin D. Roosevelt, this country has in European waters, mainly the Mediterranean, a division of cruisers, a squadron of destroyers and the necessary auxiliaries.

Standard Profit Set For Nanaimo Hotel

NANAIMO—After a legal battle with the Dominion government extending over four years, Nanaimo Community Hotel Ltd., former owners of the Hotel Malaspina, have received a decision that the company's profit for the standard years of 1936 and 1939 has been fixed at $10,500.

The company claimed in 1942 that business had been depressed during the standard years. The board of referees under the Excess Profits Tax Act met in Vancouver and set the standard profit at $7,500. The company then took proceedings in the Supreme Court of British Columbia, seeking to have the board's ruling quashed. This application was dismissed, and the company took it to Court of Appeal, where it was dismissed again, as out of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the province.

Finally taking the matter to the Exchequer Court of Canada, the company succeeded in having the decision of the board of referees set aside. The board of referees reheard the case in August, and official word of its new decision has just been received.

Canada Proposes U.N. Assembly Streamline Its Sessions

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada in its first proposal to the second part of the United Nations' General Assembly's first session, has urged steps be taken to shorten the sessions and streamline procedure.

A letter from Hon. Louis St. Laurent, newly-appointed External Affairs minister, to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, setting out definite proposals for consideration at the forthcoming session, was made public simultaneously today here and at Lake Success, N.Y.

Requesting that the proposals be placed on the agenda of the session, Mr. St. Laurent said the large number of international conferences being held made it difficult for states to provide adequate representation at each conference, particularly if the sessions were long, and that "unduly protracted" conferences "diminish the prestige of the international organizations which are responsible for calling them."

The Canadian delegation therefore would propose that the General Assembly elect, as early as possible, a committee of "about 15" states to consider and make recommendations to the General Assembly on measures it might adopt to economize its time.

"The General Assembly," the letter says, "can be successful in carrying out its task only if delegations include ministers responsible for the formulating and carrying out of policy. The chances of these ministers being able to be present during the whole period of a session of the General Assembly will be greater

Shadow Government Of Arabs Reported

JERUSALEM (CP) — Highly placed Arab sources said here an Arab "shadow government" for Palestine had been organized during the week-end at Alexandria, the asylum of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem.

These informants said the shadow regime would in effect have the Mufti, Haj Amin el-Husseini, as "President of the Republic" and his cousin, Jamal Bey Hussein, deputy chairman of the Arab executive, as "Premier and Secretary for Foreign Affairs."

Meanwhile, police reported that constables and navy personnel had discovered an attempt Sunday to dynamite British destroyers at the refuelling docks at Haifa. The report said 50 pounds of explosives were found in a canister beneath the refuelling dock, connected by an 80-foot cable to a nearby oil jetty. Five Jews in the crew of an oil barge "lying within a few yards of the canister" were arrested.

The Jewish illegal Irgun Zvai Leumi radio station declared today "it will not be long before the blue and white Jewish flag will fly over both Jerusalem and Amman" and "our next attacks will be against British oil installations, pipelines and refineries."

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated-Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Nuernberg International Military Tribunal has formulated what peacemakers for generations have been trying to persuade the world to accept—that conspiracy to commit aggressive war "is the supreme crime."

It's a notable circumstance that the court which makes this momentous ruling comprises representatives of the Big Four—the United States, Russia, Britain and France. They more than any others, are responsible for world peace.

This verdict should strengthen the hand of the United Nations in dealing with threatened aggression. Perhaps we shall find that the benefit to the U.N. may be mainly psychological for the time being, until the great powers get through scrapping among themselves.

As things stand, any one of the Big Four—plus China—could block action against an aggressor by exercising the veto right which Russia has been employing so freely in all sorts of circumstances in the Security Council. However, the tribunal's verdict—that the wages of aggression is death—should provide our new peace organization with a potentially powerful weapon.

We all but reached a similar verdict at the end of the first world conflict. The late David Lloyd George, Britain's famous wartime Prime Minister, cried "hang the Kaiser" so loudly and persistently that he almost persuaded the powers to take action—but not quite. The world wasn't ready for such a step. It took Hitler's bloody attempt to enslave Europe to turn the trick.

Punishment of the individual conspirators is calculated to be a mighty deterrent to future aggression. Of course Germany's fearful beating has been a terrible lesson to the nation as a whole—and to the rest of the world; for that matter—but such blanket punishment is too impersonal. We needed to deal with individuals to bring the thing home. As the verdict said:

"Crimes against international law are committed by men—not by abstract entities—and only by punishing individuals who commit such crimes can provisions of international law be enforced."

The Nuernberg verdict on individuals will be remembered long after Berlin has been rebuilt and folks have forgotten that it was laid in rubble.

U.B.C. Students Give Blood For Gym Fund

VANCOUVER (CP) — Concrete evidence of what is usually referred to as "the old college try," was seen here Monday with the announcement of Penn McLeod, manager of the University of British Columbia's province-wide gym campaign that students have contracted to sell their blood in aid of the drive.

Mr. McLeod reported that a large number of students have applied to donate their blood at the Shaughnessy Military Hospital and give the proceeds—$20 a pint—to the memorial fund. Volunteers have been so numerous that forms have been issued for students to register for appointments.

$450,000 Contract
For Housing Will Provide More Jobs

The $450,000 contract for construction of 104 veterans' houses awarded to Contractor E. H. Shockley of Victoria by the Housing Enterprises Ltd. and announced in Monday's Times, will give employment to many more men in the district. At least 150 workers are expected to be provided with employment when the project gets under way on the site bordering Finlayson Street, Tolmie Avenue, Quadra and Alder Streets.

Contractor Shockley today said he expected some of the houses would be completed within six months.

The project provides for four town houses and a central playground area for children. All lots will have a 50-foot frontage.

W. L. Ingles, district manager of Housing Enterprises Ltd., said roads, sewers and water lines will be installed by the city. He added that the houses would be rented to veterans who applied for the homes.

"We are not accepting any applications now," he said.

Mr. Ingles explained that Housing Enterprises consisted of a group of insurance companies granted priority rights to build homes for veterans. The company, he said, was also building 350 homes of the same type in Vancouver and 116 in New Westminster.

U.S. Senators Draft Report On Canol

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Senators learned Monday that the top American military men who insisted in 1943 that the Canol oil project in northwest Canada must be completed had decided a month earlier to cut back the Alaskan aerial offensive it was designed to support.

This was disclosed by a memorandum obtained from Navy Department files as the Senate war investigating committee wound up an inquiry into the Canol project, a multi-million dollar wartime effort to develop an oil field at Norman Wells, N.W.T., a pipeline from there to Whitehorse, Yukon, and an oil refinery at Whitehorse.

Admiral Ernest J. King, wartime Chief of Naval Operations, was the only witness at the session, which dealt chiefly with his objections to a committee report earlier this month on Canol. Admiral King, contending the report unjustly criticized him personally, demanded a retraction.

In the course of nearly three hours of heated give-and-take, it was developed that:

1. The United States chiefs of staff decided in September, 1943, to "withdraw all possible forces from Alaska and concentrate them elsewhere." Previously there had been intensive efforts to develop bases in the Aleutians off Alaska from which B-29s could bomb Japan.

2. The following Oct. 26, the chiefs of staff recommended continuation of Canol as a wartime necessity. It had cost $100,000,000 at that time and it was estimated $35,000,000 would be needed to complete it.

The committee adjourned indefinitely and indicated the likelihood some charges would be made in the report to absolve Admiral King of any personal criticism.

Censorship Fight On Over British Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Once again conflicting movie censorship codes have created a problem in British-U.S. film relations.

It's a British picture this time, and, incidentally, one of the best to come over in some time.

"Bedelia" is the name, starring Margaret Lockwood in the title role.

The American Johnston, nee Hay's, office, and the British Board of Film Censorship can't quite jibe on "Bedelia" and two important sequences in the picture.

One is the punishment to be meted out to Bedelia, the other is the neckline of one of her elegant evening gowns.

Producer Isadore Goldsmith, who came to Hollywood to shepherd the picture through United States channels, saw the problem coming and filmed two endings. In the British version, Bedelia quite ostensibly takes poison. To meet U.S. requirements, and at a cost of some $66,000, the other finale shows Bedelia surrendering to the police for her multiple murders. Suicide, says the Johnston office, is too good for her.

The low neckline has Goldsmith stumped. What he calls an "unfortunate bit of lighting" in filming the scene provoked the situation.

Canada's Peacetime Army,
R.C.A.F. System Dates From Today

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's peacetime army and air force came into official being today with both services short of their full peacetime complement, but the transition from "interim" to "peacetime" titles was purely a technicality.

Oct. 1 was established for both services as the date on which the "interim" force would come to an end and it was not at any time expected the ultimate peacetime strength would be reached for some months after this date.

Canada's peacetime army, slated eventually for 35,000 members, now has about 12,000 or 13,000 personnel. This includes about 2,700 officers—nearly the required number for the permanent force—but vacancies are still to be filled in specialist branches such as the medical corps and engineers.

The R.C.A.F., which has a peacetime goal of 16,100 officers and men, has accepted more than 9,100 of its ranks for its permanent establishment. Recruiting is going on at the rate of 400 to 450 a month, and it is expected it may take a year to bring the permanent force up to full strength.

This also was the day on which soldiers of both the active and reserve armies were scheduled for a pay raise forecast by Defence Minister Abbott last April. The new rates are based on a basic pay for privates of $95 a month compared with the old rate of $76.50 a month. Reserve Army men will receive the same rate during their 30 days' training.

Officers and other ranks remaining in the R.C.A.F. were also scheduled today to revert to their peacetime ranks.

Slim Majority Says Wage Demands Of Labor Justified

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

TORONTO — Just over half the people of Canada are sympathetic in a general way to labor's over-all demand for higher wages. This does not, of course, mean that this majority endorses all strikes or threatened strikes. Question which a representative sample of Canadian voters, spread out over Canada in proper proportion, was asked to answer was:

"Generally speaking, do you think labor is entitled or not to the higher wages they are demanding?"

Nationally, the vote went: Yes, entitled, 53%, not entitled 15%, some entitled 25%, undecided 7%.

The percentage of people who think labor is justified in its demands ranges from 75 per cent among rank-and-file C.C.F. supporters, to 44 per cent among supporters of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Among other groups of the population, opinion is just as sharply divided. For example, among members of labor unions, and their families, 74 per cent think that labor is entitled to its demands, whereas, among business and professional people, only 41 per cent think the same thing.

MINERS MOST DESERVING

The survey, which was conducted with the most modern sampling methods, showed that the public still retains the feeling that miners are the most deserving of a wage increase, because of the hazardous lives they are believed to lead. This shows up in the answers to the second question:

"Are there any particular occupations or industries where you think the workers have more reason to demand an increase than others?"

Sixty-one per cent of the total sample named one or more occupations where, in their opinion, wage demands were more justified than some others. Miners were picked by more people than any other single group: Miners 16%, unskilled workers 9%, farmers, farm help 8%, "white collar" workers 6%, steel workers 6%, textile workers 4%, skilled workers 3%, teachers 2%, pulp, lumber workers 2%, civil servants 1%, meat packers 1%, miscellaneous 14%, no opinion 2%.

The above adds to more than 61 per cent because of multiple answers. The miscellaneous groups covered more than 30 other occupations, none of which, however, was mentioned by as much as 1 per cent of the sample. Only 10 per cent of the total number interviewed thought that no occupations or industries were justified in demanding wage increases, and only 12 per cent thought that all labor groups had equal justification for demanding increases. Seventeen per cent were undecided.

THE NUERNBERG SENTENCES

NOT ALL THE PEOPLES OF THE ALlied world may be satisfied with the sentences meted out to the German war criminals at Nuernberg today. But the critics should bear in mind that this was no ordinary trial. In all the history of jurisprudence there is no precedent for the proceedings which have taken place in the last nine months in the ancient Bavarian city. And it was because the tribunal which sat in judgment on the accused could cite no parallels that its deliberations from start to finish were patterned with meticulous regard for the future dispensation of international justice. None but the ultra-fastidious will charge the court with overlooking any consideration which had the least bearing on the issues it was charged to decide. Eminent jurists doubtless will find much food for thought and discussion as they delve into the voluminous evidence and analyze the reasons on which convictions and sentences were based. The average layman, however, will be content with the decisions.

Regardless of a fairly widespread desire to see these exponents of the Teutonic master-race theory removed, once and for all from the realm of the living, and notwithstanding the hideous nature of their crimes against humanity, it was the original desire of the principal United Nations that the procedure adopted at this trial should be a model for the dispensation of justice in this particular international field. The court did not depart from this broad concept of its duty.
On the contrary; it listened patiently, day in and day out, to the widest variety of misrepresentation and blatant untruths. Practically every one of the accused resorted to the most fantastic form of subterfuge in his attempt to wriggle out of his responsibility for his foul deeds. But throughout the presiding justices stood firm in their determination to avoid, either by word or gesture, anything that could go down on the record to which posterity might point as vicious, unfair, or in contravention of basic precepts as applied to this case.

As to the sentences themselves, few Germans will shed tears over the fate which now awaits the principal culprits, although millions will be disappointed that such men as von Papen and Schacht are to escape with their lives or even a prison sentence. Others like Goering, von Ribbentrop, Kettel, Kaltenbrunner, Streicher, Rosenberg, Frank, Frick, Sauckel, Seyss-Inquart, and Jodl bear names, on the other hand, which generations of Germans unborn should be taught to remember as the criminals who indulged a lust for self-aggrandizement and world domination which entitles them to be branded for all time as the exponents of the law of the fang and claw. Whether those culprits who were spared the death sentence and are doomed either to spend the rest or the greater part of their lives in close confinement would have preferred to end it with their colleagues-in-crime is highly conjectural. What peoples everywhere will profoundly hope, however, is that the verdict of Nuernberg will provide an effective deterrent to any future would-be dictator who attempts to emulate the former Austrian corporal who met his end by his own hand in his Berlin funk-hole.

FOR ANOTHER THREE YEARS

ALTHOUGH LABOR HAS BEEN IN THE saddle at Canberra since the fall of 1941, it was not until the election of August, 1943, that the party's leader, the late Hon. John Curtin, captured more than two-thirds of the seats in the House of Representatives and established a working majority. Last Saturday's endorsement of the administration over which Prime Minister J. B. Chifley has presided since July 13, 1945, therefore, occasioned no surprise in the southern Dominion or elsewhere. And if some observers expected the joint campaign conducted by the Liberal and Country parties to reduce the government's majority appre-ciably, early and scattered returns disillu-sioned them, while the final count may leave the party standings in the lower chamber with no substantial change. And it looks as if many of the 19 Senate seats for which contests were required will be added to those of the 17 Labor members already seated on the right of Mr. Speaker in the Upper House.

This latest decision by the Australian electorate is important not only because it reflects a popular demand for stability in government as such—and the vote could not be much more conclusive than it is—but also because the people were satisfied with the administration's conduct of the nation's contribution to victory over the common enemy and desired to give it every opportunity to pursue its peacetime program of reconstruction and expansion. This is not to suggest that a coalition government between the Liberals and the Country Party would not have measured up to the requirements of the times; but in the interests of all concerned it is obviously better policy, to avoid, to put it colloquially, changing horses in the middle of the stream. Under the system prevailing in all democratic countries, of course, the electorate is never slow to make its influence felt in Parliament if a government does not correctly interpret and carry out its instructions. And the Chifley regime now has another three years to prove its worth.

WELCOME TO VICTORIA

TO A PROVINCE IN WHICH THE MINeral wealth is only estimated, and to a capital which is becoming increasingly known to world figures traveling between continents, today's ceremony of swearing in His Honor Charles Arthur Banks, C.M.G., as Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia is an event of more than formal importance.
By long experience and native ability, this distinguished cosmopolitan of the mining world is peculiarly suited for the post which he assumes following a career that has won him success in his chosen field and has proved his versatility through service in two World Wars.

British Columbia invariably has been particularly fortunate in the calibre of men chosen for the important position of the King's representative in Canada's far west.
As he begins his duties as successor to Lt. Col. W. C. Woodward, Mr. Banks will be conversant with the high standards set by his predecessor in meeting the demands imposed by the office. On those occasions when he and Mrs. Banks have been guests at Government House they have acquired a familiarity with the nature of those customs, services and traditions to which they now fall heir. Understanding the responsibilities entailed, they have accepted the honor of becoming this province's first citizens and may look forward to happy relations with a city which has shown warm friendliness to those who have preceded them.

And as the New Zealand-born mining engineer, who came to British Columbia after the First World War to achieve wide recognition in the international mining and business world, enjoys those inherent qualities which bespeak success in his new sphere of activities, so, too, does his charming consort.
While Mr. Banks was engaged in important war work for the Canadian Department of Munitions and Supply in London, Mrs. Banks devoted her talents to the welfare of the famed Beaver Club and to the formation of the United Nations Forces Club, a leave centre in the West End.

This province, and particularly this city, is happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Banks to Government House and anticipates with pleasure the prospect of knowing them better through the associations which the gubernatorial post assures.

PONTIAC'S AFTERMATH

POLITICAL PROPHETS IN THE NAtional capital are still discussing the Pontiac by-election and the significance of its result in relation to the hopes of the three leading parties of the Dominion. It was obviously a bitter disappointment to the government, because it lost what was considered a reasonably safe seat—despite victory on a minority vote in the general election last year. After having conducted an extremely energetic campaign the Progressive Conservatives naturally resented the relegation of their candidate to a poor third place—after finishing as runner-up to the victorious Liberal in 1945. Perhaps the result occasioned little surprise to the C.C.F.— although the party lost considerable ground in comparison with its showing in the previous contest. Well may the crystal gazers in Ottawa ask what the victory in Pontiac for the "funny money" advocates means. Is the Social Credit to become the fourth national party? Is there any hope of stable and progressive administration with so many parties bidding for the popular vote? Is Socialism a spent force? And what effect will all this have on this month's by-elections in Parkdale, Oht., and Portage La Prairie, Man.?

Pontiac's victor, Mr. Real Caouette, has thrown some light on the speculation. His statement that he won the election by concentrating on local issues, while other parties talked in national and international terms, has created much interest. An analysis of the poll shows clearly that the large vote of 4,485 collected by the "Bloc Populaire Cana-dienne," Quebec's ultra nationalist party, in last year's general election went solidly to Mr. Caouette. The Liberal organization certainly failed to get out all the Liberal vote;
the total cast in this by-election, as compared with the 1945 tally, was down about the same amount as the Liberal vote was reduced. The Duplessis organization in Quebec, moreover, has failed in its attempt to support the Progressive Conservative Party. But Mr. Caouette was by far the best known candidate, having campaigned in two previous elections in this large constituency, which could not be completely "covered" in one election campaign. The Progressive Conservative Party is particularly downcast over its failure to gain from the government loss. And the anti-Bracken forces within the party have been strengthened. They have additional ammunition in the Liberal victory in last month's provincial by-election in Prince Edward Island.

CONSTRUCTIVE THOUGHT

IN WELCOME CONTRAST TO THE BIG headlines and columns of type devoted to the "evil that men do"—as indicated in the lives of those sentenced at Nuernberg—is the simple statement by Lord Rowallan, Chief Scout of the British Empire, during the rally at the Armories last Saturday.
Speaking to his juniors in the movement,
the distinguished visitor stated: "You are members of the largest family in the world, so think of the amount of good you do by doing your good turn every day."

By directing public thought to this constructive idea, Lord Rowallan offers a tonic for a weary world. And he serves, too, to underscore the point that the power for good is not necessarily vested in the spectacular. His words are an invitation to all to follow this simple objective of Scouting.

Unending Battle

By HUGH BOYD

SCIENCE'S fight against disease in plants as well as human and animal, is an unending one. Each fresh victory releases so much resources for attack upon some other problem. But it is not always safe to say that any one enemy has been overcome for all time, and no one knows this better than the men in the front line of the battle.

A striking example of the need for constant vigilance comes to light in the development, by plant breeders and pathologists of the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory at Winnipeg, of a new variety of oats which is resistant to all types of rust now known in this country. There have been other rust-resistant varieties before it. For a time it appeared that some of its predecessors such as Ajax and Exeter, products of the same team of scientists, might be the final answer to rust. Within the last four years, however, new virulent races of rust appeared on an epidemic scale.

THE LABORATORY was already prepared for just such a contingency. Fourteen years ago they had made the first crosses leading to the variety which is now in process of multiplication so that there will be enough for all western farmers who want to grow it. This process will take a few years longer, and in the meantime, because science is never content to stand still, something even more promising may come along.

For it is not yet established beyond doubt that the new strain is completely satisfactory in all respects. Its originators are the first to make that clear when they point out that while resistance to every known race of stem and crown rust is a definite attribute,
they are not so sure just how good a yielder
it is in comparison with today's standard oats. And there are other agronomic properties which can only be assessed after field trials on a wider scale than have been possible hitherto.

IN THE MATTER of yield, however, they hope the new oat will be at least equal to the well-known variety Vanguard, whose blood runs in its own veins.

Victory over such a scourge as rust is never achieved in a single bound. That was not the case in the battle against both stem and leaf rust in wheat. Twenty years elapsed between the terrible stem rust epidemic of 1916 and the release in commercial quantities of the first important resistant variety.
That was Thatcher. It was regarded at the time as a stop-gap, and it has undoubtedly shortcomings, but Thatcher was the greatest boon to prairie agriculture since the advent of the famous wheat which it so largely displaced, Marquis, and it continues to be very widely grown.

Other varieties have come along since then, each adapted to the conditions of a particular region. In Manitoba, Regent has become the leading variety. Now a still better wheat is on the way, and is now in the multiplication stage. This is Redman, which has stood up well under all field tests to date, combining good performance under drought conditions with high resistance to both stem and leaf rust.

SIMILARLY, the still nameless oat marks the latest stage in a long series of counter-blows against the separate group of rusts which prey upon this cereal. Each of its predecessors meant a victory, but only a partial one. Complete victory may not be won even today. Such a possibility will not disturb the research workers, who never take things for granted. If they ever did, that would be the time for farmers to start worrying.

WRONG APPROACH

MUCH HAS BEEN said by American visitors abroad about how Mr. Byrnes has had to labor to convince Europe that the United States is not going to withdraw. My own observations abroad convinced me that the truly representative Europeans, who live in the present and not in the past, do not think we shall withdraw into isolation as in 1919. They know we cannot do that.
What they are really concerned about is the consequences to them of the form of our participation in European affairs.

For as Europeans see it, we are treating the Continent as a diplomatic battlefield in a world-wide contest of power with the Soviet Union. Almost certainly the great majority of civilized Europeans prefer the United States to the Soviet Union. But we shall be misled if we think that they trust us confidently to lead them to peace or to prosperity. They are not happy over the manner in which we have chosen to arrange matters so that on every issue they have to stand up in public, and be counted as for us or for the Russians. The three Senators in Paris may think peace can be made as laws are enacted in the Senate—by roll calls, showdowns, and votes. But this procedure is a catastrophe for Europe, in that it compels the nations to take sides against one another, and drives deep wedges of division into their internal affairs.

ALL THIS, I KNOW, is being done in the sacred name of open diplomacy. But it is the ruin of diplomacy, which cannot be conducted except into trouble on the false assumption that a society of sovereign states can be governed as if it were a parliamentary democracy of individual persons. Men cannot play chess successfully if they are under the impression that they are playing checkers. The procedure of this conference was developed by the three American Senators, and the consequences are disastrous. There is no progress toward peace. There is an acute deterioration of human relations everywhere.

OFFICIAL EXPLANATION

Recently an article was published in the Bulletin of the Vancouver Medical Association reporting on some experimental work carried on by Dr. K. D.
Panton of Vancouver, on the effects of certain preparations containing various earths of an absorbent nature in cases of intestinal ulcers, and in certain other conditions. Since the publication of this article, advertisements and runners have appeared in the press of British Columbia, including your paper stating that these preparations have received the endorsement of the Vancouver Medical Association and the medical profession generally. One of these stated that the British Columbia Medical Association had endorsed these preparations.

I should be very grateful to you if you would publish the following facts:

1. This article was merely a

It is an interim report and is by no means conclusive.

2. There has been no endorsement whatever by any organized medical body of these preparations. Publication of a report in the Bulletin does not constitute endorsement by the editor or publishers, much less by the Vancouver Medical Association.
Every medical journal is constantly publishing such accounts of experimental work, but in no case does this constitute endorsement by any medical body, still less by the medical profession at large.

3. Makers of the preparations referred to have no right whatever to claim any endorsement by the Vancouver or any other medical association. Any statements to this effect by them, or by anybody else, are totally un-

We are anxious that the public should understand clearly the facts in this case, and this is my

Nancy Foote Bride In White Taffeta

A white taffeta gown styled with lace yoke, embroidered bertha, long-fitted sleeves ending in embroidered flared cuffs and bouffant skirt was worn by Miss Eva Nancy Foote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Foote, 1149 Tattersall Drive, when she exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening with Edmund Lorne Fuller, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fuller, 1139 Tattersall Drive, and grandson of the late Rev. John Robson, Victoria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride completed her costume with a floor-length embroidered veil, held at the temples with sprays of orange blossoms. She wore a double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of deep red roses, pink carnations and white gardenias.

Miss Elaine Fuller, the groom's sister, in pink taffeta, and Miss Olive Inglis, in turquoise blue taffeta attended the bride. They wore feather head-dresses with chapel veils and lace mitts to match their frocks. Their arm bouquets were of pink and white carnations.

Little Willa Fuller, the groom's niece, was a charming flower girl in her yellow taffeta gown. She wore a ruffled Dutch cap edged in blue and carried a tiny nosegay of flowers.

Assisting the groom, was his brother, John Arthur Fuller. Ushers were Don Robinson and Al Jordan.

Rev. W. R. Ashford performed the ceremony in Centennial United Church. Presiding at the organ was Miss Hilda Kirkby and during the signing of the register, Douglas Gill sang "O Perfect Love."

A reception followed at the Foote residence where mothers of the young couple assisted in receiving the guests. George Holt proposed the bride's toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller chose for their honeymoon a trip up-island. The bride wore for traveling a three-piece ensemble of ocean blue, black plastic accessories and corsage of pink roses, violets and heather.

On their return they will reside at 3166 Albina Street.

Miss Ruth MacLean will remain at Government House as secretary to Mrs. Charles A. Banks, wife of the new Lieutenant-Governor. Former social reporter on the Vancouver Daily Province, Miss MacLean has been secretary to Mrs. Woodward during the past five years.

17th Chatelaine At Government House

When her husband was officially inaugurated this morning as the new Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, Jean de Montalk Banks joined a small but select group of outstanding women who have been chate-laines at Cary Castle—or as it is better known today—Government House.

The first hostess at "the castle" was Mrs. Kennedy, wife of Edgar Arthur Kennedy, Governor of Vancouver Island.

In 1866, when British Columbia and Vancouver Island became one, Mrs. Seymour, born Florence Maria, daughter of the Rev. Sir Francis Jarvis Stapleton, Bart., of Grey's Court, Henley, England, came to the castle as a young bride, with her husband, the first governor of a united province.

In the 75 years since Confederation in 1871, there have been 16 first ladies of British Columbia.

AMERICAN BORN

Julia Elizabeth, Lady Trutch, an American, born in the State of Illinois, performed the duties of hostess from 1871 until 1876.

The wife of Sir Joseph Trutch, first Lieutenant-Governor of the province, Lady Trutch had a great love for England and on one of her visits there brought back larks, blackbirds, and thrushes so that English song-birds might be introduced to Vancouver Island.

Mrs. Albert Norton Richards, Mrs. Clement Francis Cornwall, who before her marriage was Charlotte Pemberton, daughter of Rev. A. D. Pemberton, an English vicar, and whose descendants still live in the province at Ashcroft and Victoria, and Mrs. Hugh Nelson, formerly Emily Stanton, daughter of J. B. Stanton, civil servant of Canada at Ottawa, followed in chronological order.

Born in the tropically beautiful island of Ceylon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shattou Molir, Mrs. Edgar Dewdney, the next chate-laine, brought a breath of romance to the stone towers and baronial splendor of old Cary Castle.

She was a small woman, very quick and active, going about everywhere with her husband, and never seeming to tire.

MUCH CHARM

She had been chate-laine at Regina at the time of the Riel Rebellion, when her husband was lieutenant-governor of the Northwest Territories and an outstanding hostess at Ottawa, when he represented the constituency of Yale in the House of Commons. She was a warm friend of Lady Macdonald, wife of Sir John A. Macdonald and she was a charming chate-laine in the five years she was at British Columbia's Government House.

Mrs. Dewdney was followed by Mrs. Thomas Robert McInnes and she in turn by Lady Babinere, wife of Sir Henri Joli Lobinere.

This striking study of Mrs. Charles Arthur Banks in riding habit is a photographic reproduction of a portrait in oils.

whom fate had placed in a position of first lady of the province.

Today, from her Rockland Avenue home, Mrs. Nichol still takes a keen interest in women's affairs, especially the work of the L.O.D.E. and the Girl Guides.

YOUTHFUL HOSTESS

Youth held sway from 1925 until 1931 when the nieces of Lieutenant-Governor Randolph Bruce acted as their uncle's hostesses. First, Mrs. Julian Piggott of London, England, the former Helen Mackenzie, who was married at Government House during the Bruce regime and then Mrs. Hobart Molson of Victoria, formerly Miss Margaret Mackenzie. Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson was the next chate-laine, followed by Mrs. Eric Hamber.

Ruth Wynne Woodward, who has been chate-laine at Government House during the past five years, upheld the gracious charm and high qualities of service that have become traditional with first ladies of British Columbia's Government House. She has discharged her duties well and leaves many sincere friends.

Her interests from now on will be divided between Vancouver, where the family home is situated, and the Saanich Peninsula where Woodwyn Farm is rapidly becoming one of the finest dairy ranches on Vancouver Island.

Now comes Mrs. Charles Banks. An accomplished woman who will add still further laurels to a dignified and gracious station.

Think Of Country Institutes Mrs. Gummow Tells Women

In a direct appeal to women's institutes in the city not to forget the problems of country districts, Mrs. B. F. Gummow, superintendent of Women's Institutes in British Columbia, spoke to the South Vancouver Island District Women's Institute Conference at the opening session in the Y.W.C.A. this morning.

"To those of us who live close to the big centres, the problems faced by women in out-of-the-way places seems very remote," she said, "and it is so easy, even for those who have formerly lived in the country, to leave behind all memory of coal oil lamps and water carried into the kitchen for all domestic purposes."

Mrs. Gummow has traveled over 6,000 miles in British Columbia since the first of June and has helped organize nine new institutes in that time. Three other institutes were organized earlier in the year.

"In every institute visited, the big problems are much the same," she told members and delegates. "They want running water, rural electrification and better opportunities for education for their children and they want better dental and health services."

"These women in country communities depend on us in the cities for leadership and understanding and help to solve their problems," she continued. "If we forget these things we are failing in our responsibilities."

Mrs. Gummow also spoke of the new Women's Institute Memorial Fund for rural girls, to enable them to take a course in home economics at the university. With the Otha Scott fund for crippled children completed, institutes are concentrating on this new project.

In her address, Mrs. A. S. Dennis, president, Provincial Board of Women's Institutes, stressed the opportunity presented institutes today.

"There never was a time in the history of our province when our women's institutes have had such a wonderful opportunity to help all the people in our different communities and to live up to our motto, 'For home and country,'" she said. "We have always helped to look after problems in education, health, social welfare and agriculture," she added. "Now during this shift in population in all parts of our province, when thousands of people have come to us from other provinces as well as from overseas, it is up to us to make each one welcome and to help them with their problems."

At the afternoon session, Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, provincial convener of crafts and industries spoke on the need for concentrated effort to develop British Columbia's craft into a thriving industry. Miss Echo Lidster also spoke on work of the boys' and girls' clubs.

Sessions will continue Wednesday morning with a tour of the city planned for delegates in the afternoon and a visit to the B.A. Paint factory.

Four Attendants For Muriel Mann

Four maids were in attendance for Miss Muriel Jean, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mann, 225 Montreal Street, as she entered Fairfield United Church Monday evening with her father, to become the bride of Arthur Fleming Graham, eldest son of Mr. James Graham, 875 Craigflower Road and the late Mrs. Graham.

It was a floral setting of yellow chrysanthemums and mauve Michaelmas daisies, Rev. William Allan performed the ceremony and G. Hearn played wedding music. Mrs. Mary Youson was soloist.

The bride was charming in her white satin gown fashioned with sweetheart neckline, lily point sleeves and full skirt appliqued with true lover's knots, en train. A coronet, ornamented with seed pearls, held her filmy silk veil which formed a long train carried by Master Randy Cavley, wearing a white satin blouse with short white trousers. The bride's bouquet was of red roses and she carried a handkerchief of heirloom lace. She completed her costume with a pearl pendant, the groom's gift.

Her four attendants were Miss Norma Nicholls, maid of honor, in a gown of pastel pink starched lace with matching calot and veil; Miss Gwendolyn Mann chose a blue silk crepe gown and featured matching pearls in her up-swept coiffure; Mrs. Irene Mann chose an orchid taffeta gown and wore matching head-dress and Mrs. Jessie Burns was attired in pastel pink chiffon with matching Juliet cap. They carried Colonial bouquets with satin streamers harmonizing with their gowns.

Groomsman was Clare Burns and ushering were Arnold Mann and Robert Graham, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. A reception followed at the Connaught Seamen's Institute Hall where Mrs. Mann assisted the bridal party in welcoming their guests. Toast to the bride was proposed by Arnold Vigelius, Vancouver.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the bride wore a coral pink dress with matching

Indian Delegate To U.N.

One of India's problems will be aired before the U.N. when Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, sister of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, arrives in New York next month. Head of her country's delegation to the U.N. General Assembly, she is expected to complain against South African legislation restricting land tenure by Indians.

crowd doctors' offices rich women who do not have to work? Aren't most of the women who have to cook and wash and scrub and baby-tend strong and healthy? It is the idle women, with nothing to do but explore their systems for symptoms, who develop strange complaints.

And what women keep young? What women retain their girlish figures and the alert, interested look that is the very essence of youth? Aren't they oftenest the women who are doing some sort of work that compels them to be on their tiptoes all the time, and that keeps them doing new things and thinking new thoughts? Haven't you seen a woman who was suddenly forced to support herself become revitalized by her job?

And aren't practically all of the scandals that women get themselves into the result of idleness? Who are the sensation-seeking young girls who snap their fingers at all the laws of God and man, who make chain marriages and divorces and whose doings are headlined in the papers? They are not the poor working girls. They are the

Dorothy Dix

IDLE WOMEN INCLINED TO GET INTO TROUBLESOME HABITS

Why is it that work is considered a blessing for men and a curse for women? We recognize that it is good physically, mentally and morally for a man to be usefully employed and we have a contempt for the playboy and the lazy loafer. No woman wants a husband who sits down on the do-nothing stool and lets her toil to support him. In this country, at least, the popular hero is the poor boy who works his way up to the top of the ladder.

But our attitude towards women and work is entirely different. We regard it as a misfortune for them to have to do anything except amuse themselves, and when one has to earn her bread by the sweat of her brow, we speak of her with pity as a "poor working girl."

Every father strives to make enough money to keep his daughter in idleness, and every man considers that he is being a good husband when he provides his wife with so many servants to wait upon her that she scarcely has to do her own breathing. And women, themselves, have been so indoctrinated with the idea that they shouldn't do any useful labor that they haven't even been ashamed of being parasites.

IDLENESS BAD INFLUENCE

Of all the bad luck that has ever been wished on the feminine sex, and goodness knows there has been a plenty of it, the very worst of it has been the crazy theory that women should be kept in a state of suspended animation, with practically nothing to do that is worth doing with their hands and brains, or what women have always needed was good, honest, productive work, and to the fact that they have been forced to be boondoggles, you can trace most of their mistakes and failures, as well as their other major and minor ills. Take health, for instance. Aren't most of the women who

Twelve patients had been admitted to the Solarium for treatment during the summer if it was reported at the monthly meeting of the directors.

Of the patients discharged to their homes during the summer period, the most noteworthy were the remarkable recovery of a boy who had suffered from a painful case of osteomyelitis for the past two years, returning home in an excellent condition, and a girl who was treated for the same disease for a period of 19 months, discharged to her home presumably cured. During the girl's stay at the Solarium she won the special annual prize for her fortitude and good behaviour.

Under order by the Board of Industrial Relations and recommended by the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C., salaries have shown an increase, and the Solarium's payroll has grown over $1,100 monthly.

Federal, Province, Civic Leaders Join In Chest Support

Premier John Hart, Mayor Percy George, and R. W. Mayhew, M.P., joined today in urging the citizens of Victoria to support the Community Chest drive for $100,000 which officially opens Tuesday and will continue for the next eight days.

Mayor George in his statement stressed that "the aftermath of war has brought many more stresses to family well-being and added greatly to the work of the 23 fine agencies who handle social and charity problems for Greater Victoria." He urged citizens to not only contribute to the fund to the limit of their ability, but to appoint themselves workers for the Chest and try and win support for it.

Premier Hart pointed out that "with the increased social welfare responsibilities of this community, more work than ever remains for the voluntary agencies, one of the most prevalent being juvenile delinquency." The large population increase, the number of families in need of homes, and increased demand for nursing facilities have all created innumerable problems calling for more and more aid from Chest agencies, he stated.

Mr. Mayhew praised the "splendid work of the 23 agencies who through the Community Chest have centralized their appeals for public support in a manner which makes it possible for all of us to give at a single time."

Community Chest Flag To Fly From City Hall

Mayor Percy George and Denis Hagar, chairman of the Community Chest, smile proudly at the Red Feather flag which will fly from the City Hall for the duration of the Community Chest campaign which opens officially today. The flag is the pledge of the citizens of Greater Victoria that the $100,000 necessary to carry on the work of the 23 "Red Feather" agencies within the chest will be contributed, Mr. Hagar explained as he presented the flag to the mayor, at a rally in the Sirocco Monday evening.

Chief Veterinarian Retires After 40 Years

Dr. Arthur Knight, chief veterinary inspector for the B.C. Department of Agriculture, retired Monday after 39 years' service with the department.

Appointed in August, 1907, to the department, Dr. Knight, a graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, succeeded the late Dr. S. F. Tolmie, later Premier of British Columbia.

The tuberculosis testing of dairy herds in British Columbia was instituted by Dr. Knight 30 years ago. At that time it was found that 35 per cent of all dairy cattle in the province were suffering from the disease. In an effort to stamp out the disease, the government made compensation to farmers for their cattle. The result is today that less than 5 per cent of dairy cattle tested show T.B.

Dr. Knight, one of the oldest members of the department in years of service, also assisted sheep breeders and other livestock during his term of office. No successor has yet been named.

Visit To Solarium Marks Last Cruise

The Vancouver Island Power Boat Squadrons over the weekend marked the last of their regular cruises for the season by making a trip with presents to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

On Saturday, 18 boats cruised first to the Solarium and then circled the bay in "line ahead" formation, after which the crews landed and took the gifts to the children from members and their friends.

The majority of the boats then went on to Genoa Bay to spend the night in order to take part in the club's fishing derby on Sunday.

There were 30 entries for the derby, and Stan Moore won the first prize. The second went to his son, Dave Moore took third prize and J. Ormond, fourth.

Slot-Machine Case In Appeal Court

Appeal of Richard T. Burns, president of the Kamloops Elk Club, who was found guilty of having slot machines in the clubrooms, is scheduled to be heard by the Court of Appeal here.

Fined $200 when convicted by the lower court last July, Burns is appealing on the grounds that Magistrate R. W. Rowlands erred in holding him as keeper of a common gaming house, and moreover, had no evidence to support his conviction.

The Appeal Court reserved judgment in the case of William Clark of Vancouver, convicted of being in the possession of a revolver for a purpose dangerous to the public peace. Clark, a game keeper, was sentenced to 12 months in jail with hard labor.

The appeal is based on the sentence, which defence counsel says is unduly severe considering the circumstances, and particularly as Clark had never at any time been accused or charged with a criminal offence. The court quashed the conviction of Dr. James Ross Arthur, Vancouver, fined $100 for unlawfully issuing prescriptions for liquor. Also quashed were convictions and sentences of one year against Norman Munroe and Allen Robert Carey, Vancouver, for possession of stolen goods.

Chief Scout Calls For Recreation Of Adventurous Spirit

"We must through Scouting find some solution to this terrible and soul-destroying slogan of 'safety first,'" Lord Rowallan, Chief Scout of the British Empire, said Monday in a luncheon address to the Canadian Club, calling for the recreation of the adventurous spirit which had made Canada a great country.

It was only during the war, Lord Rowallan said, that young men had received a chance to show their personalities and develop their powers. His last job in the war was to take young officers "oozing with knowledge but lacking in wisdom" and subject them to 10 weeks' training, which he said was an intensified Scouting course.

More than 75 per cent of the young officers who had taken this training, he said, in subsequent days had showed their superiority.

Lord Rowallan asked for greater help in the Scout movement from the community.

"There is hardly a person of goodwill whom we cannot utilize," he said, explaining that if more persons were to give part of their time, volunteer workers now in Scout uniform could have some much-needed relaxation and social life outside the organization.

5,000,000 SCOUTS

The Chief Scout said there were 100,000 members of the organization in Canada and 5,000,000 in the world.

"Every one of those young men and boys is undergoing complete and balanced development of mind, body and spirit, from the time he joins the Wolf Cubs as a complete little determined individualist," Lord Rowallan said. "The achievements

Canned Milk Prices Rise Today As Housewives, Labor Protest

Storms of protest at the two-cent-a-quart increase in the price of milk, effective today in British Columbia, appeared to be gathering as the Prices Board in Ottawa announced increase in the price of evaporated milk and other concentrated milk products would be permitted to compensate for the removal of the producers' milk subsidy.

The Prices Board order, effective today, allows an increase on evaporated milk of 35 cents per case of 48 tins, equivalent to the amount of subsidy formerly paid, which means the price, to the consumer will go up three-quarters of a cent for a 16-ounce tin.

Maximum prices of other concentrated milk products, at the manufacturing level, have been increased by the following amounts:

Sweetened condensed milk (whole) by one cent a pound, (skimmed) by 1 and one-half cents a pound; milk powder (whole), two and one-half cents a pound and (skimmed) by two cents a pound.

Aside from evaporated milk, most of the concentrated products are sold in bulk to bakers and other manufacturers. For the small percentage sold on the retail market, the price increases will be in fractions of a cent.

In Vancouver Monday housewives protested milk increases as labor and consumer organizations made further representations to the B.C. government to hold retail costs at present values.

PARADE TO CONTROLLER
A parade of 30 women marched to the office of E. C. Carr, milk controller, and later went to the City Hall to lodge a protest with civic officials. The paraders' banners demanded the government subsidize milk production and hold prices down.

Meanwhile the B.C. Federation of Labor (C.C.L.) asked the government to pay the subsidy to producers and urged an investigation into delivery methods.

Previously the Victoria Veteran Labor Consultative Council had asked the provincial government to continue the subsidy which the federal government had canceled last midnight.

A provincial government producers' subsidy is not considered likely.

DELIVERY WASTEFUL

The B.C. Federation of Labor claimed wasteful delivery techniques had contributed to the high cost of milk.

Meanwhile in Toronto Premier George Drew announced the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate all phases of milk production and marketing in Ontario. Mr. Justice Dalton C. Wells of the Ontario Supreme Court was named commissioner.

The announcement followed a special meeting of the Ontario cabinet at which the three-cent-a-quart milk price increase was discussed. The boost brings the price of milk in Ontario to 16 cents per quart.

At Royal Jubilee Hospital here it was reported the price boost effective today would cost $4,225.75 per year and price increases since 1942 would cost $8,000 annually. The price of milk for institutions is up to 51 cents per gallon. The hospital uses 105 gallons daily.

Council Reverses Decision; Closes Shoe Stores Wednesdays

After hearing the brief of the shoe retail merchants petitioning that the by-law authorizing all-day Wednesday closing of shoe stores in Victoria, the City Council Monday reversed its previous decision to leave all such by-laws tabled until after a referendum in December, and gave the by-law its final reading by a 7 to 4 vote.

It was brought out by Ald. F. G. Mulliner, in the course of the discussion that if 51 per cent of the present petitioners ask for repeal of the by-law at a later date the council may repeal it, thus giving protection to the merchants should they find that the by-law does not work to their satisfaction.

Speed Taking Over Macaulay Huts For Emergency Homes

The City Council at its Monday meeting urged the lands, zoning and housing committee, under the chairmanship of Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, to speed the taking over of Macaulay Point huts now that they have been released, and turn them over to the Citizens Rehabilitation Committee so that families can be moved in there as quickly as possible.

A letter from Esquimalt Council asking the city to guarantee all education and welfare costs for families living in Macaulay was not received with favor by the council, as Ald. Dewar pointed out that there would be no discrimination made against any family from Greater Victoria in need of shelter in allotting the huts.

"It may well be that Esquimalt families will go into some of the huts, just as some of them have moved into the city at different times," he commented.

A resolution from Kitchener City Council asking that the Victoria Council request federal stoppage of all "unessential building" until housing requirements are met was turned down, as Ald. Edward Williams pointed out that many of these so-called unessential projects gave employment to veterans, without which they could not finance the building of their homes.

pointed out that it was the third clock he had seen in the hall not changed, and asked that the caretaker be instructed to get it set right.

"The City Hall just hasn't got caught up to itself yet," commented Mayor George.

Council Notes

The Victoria Rotary Club has put in an application to the City Council to use the Memorial Arena for an ice carnival when it is completed, on the first date available. Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the Arena Committee, said that the Council could not deal with the request as the Arena will be administered by a commission when it is completed.

Sale of nine parcels of city-owned lands for $6,657.50 was approved by the City Council. One lot was sold to a veteran for $167.50.

It was decided to start expropriation proceedings to get a strip of land 10 feet by 30 feet at the corner of Pembroke and Blanshard Streets for Blanshard Street widening project. The owner had been offered $150 for the property, but held out for $350.

On a recommendation from the Social Welfare Committee, approval was given to Police Commission action to obtain a suitable home for juvenile delinquents, and also that an inter-municipal committee be set up to administer it.

Oct. 24 is the date tentatively set by the City Council for the Willows Fairgrounds sale by-law to go to the taxpayers.

It will require a special meeting of the City Council later in the week to pass the necessary resolutions to put the by-law to the people, after approval has been received from the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, city solicitor A. J. Patton, explained.

Two aircraft have been secured by the federal Department of Fisheries for patrol duties on this coast, and are always available for immediate service, Fisheries Minister H. F. G. Bridges said Monday.

Mr. Bridges visited Victoria Sunday and Monday, visited salmon traps at Sooke, and is traveling to Hell's Gate on the Fraser River today.

One of the aircraft, chartered from Queen Charlotte Airlines, has been in use for several weeks in the Prince Rupert area, the minister said.

Mr. Bridges said it is possible South American fishing operations may provide competition for British Columbia in "not too many years hence." He said competition will be primarily in the canned fish field.

The minister said the matter of fishermen smuggling fish into U.S. ports, where higher prices prevail, is in the hands of the Customs Department, although his department is ready to help in any way required.

Community Hall And Homes Planned At Lang's Cove Camp

Esquimalt Municipal Council agreed last night to buy from the War Assets Corporation Lang's Cove A.A. Camp for a sum of $1,897. Evaluated at $27,310, the War Assets Corporation offered to sell the camp for 8 per cent of its original cost.

In accepting the offer, Reeve Hadfield said the Canadian Legion would use the land to build veterans' homes, while one building would be set aside for use as a community hall for Esquimalt.

The council decided to send Councillors Reid and Wurtel to attend a joint meeting of the Canadian Legion and Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council scheduled to be held on Oct. 20, to discuss the housing situation.

The decision to attend the meeting was made after a letter was read from the District Trades and Labor Council which stated that the housing situation was creating a serious social problem and was largely responsible for increases in divorces and crime.

DISCUSS SAWMILL

A by-law for permission to establish a small sawmill in Esquimalt was set aside for further discussion at the next meeting on Oct. 15, following protests from a delegation of citizens.

Citizens with homes situated around the site for the proposed mill complained that the mill would create noise and other unpleasant factors in the district. Although sympathizing with the views of the delegation, Reeve Hadfield said that something had to be done to attract industry to Esquimalt in order to provide employment.

In a letter to the council, it was disclosed that the honey crop failure this year around Esquimalt and other districts had been caused by spraying a poisonous solution on bushes, shrubs and trees to protect them from caterpillars.

The letter sent by the Vancouver Island Beekeepers' Association stated that the shrubs had been sprayed when they were in bloom and thus poisoned the flowers which the bees depend upon. It urged the council to take precautions next spring by spraying the bushes earlier in the season.

The council agreed to give the matter serious consideration before next spring.

PARK AT SAXE POINT

Councillors also agreed to consider the proposal to turn Saxe Point into a municipal park and playground for children, following a protest against dumping garbage in the area.

The medical health officer in a letter also recommended that the dumping of garbage in the area cease in the interest of public health. He also suggested that the small pond at Saxe Point be turned into a duck pond.

The council appeared to favor the idea but took no decision in the matter. Reeve Hadfield said it would cost very little to turn the area into a park.

Final reading was given restaurant regulation By-Law 436 which sets a standard of cleanliness for restaurants in the municipality.

The council also approved the recommendation of the chief constable for the erection of stop signs at the corner of Colville and Phoenix Streets.

1946 Potato Crop Believed Adequate

British Columbia housewives, who last spring found table potatoes in short supply, need have no worries about supplies of the tubers next spring, in the opinion of provincial agriculture department officials.

The crop generally throughout the province this year has been good. Officials predicted that it was unlikely it would be necessary for British Columbia to import potatoes from other provinces and the United States early next year.

The government last spring had appealed to farmers to plant larger potato acreages. This appeal, coupled with good crop conditions, is believed to have resulted in production of potatoes this year being adequate to meet the 1946-47 demand.

Officers of the agriculture department said that both early and late blight was not great this year because of favorable weather conditions. The potato crops now are being harvested.

Because the potato crop last year was inadequate to meet British Columbia demands, sale of lower grade potatoes was permitted by the government. Some potatoes were also imported from the U.S. and growers experienced a shortage of seed potatoes.

'Salmon' Lacks Dignity As Name For Street Councillors Decide

The gamely salmon, which has won world fame as a sporting fish and the provider of daily bread for thousands of fishermen, was snubbed by Esquimalt Municipal Councillors at a meeting last night.

Councillors didn't think "salmon" an appropriate name for a street, lacked dignity and taste, and took measures to have the name changed.

In a rather apologetic tone, Reeve Hadfield told councillors that some enterprising citizen had taken upon himself to give a new thoroughfare the name of Salmon.

A look of disdain spread over the features of the six councillors who inquired if anyone had complained of the name.

The reeve replied that some had protested, but not all residents had objected.

"I think it would be a good idea to change it, murmured the reeve, "I don't think it is quite appropriate."

Councillor Wurtel suggested that the street be given the name of a sea captain who was connected with Esquimalt.

Another councillor suggested that it be named after Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, commanding officer, Pacific Coast. But this was turned down on the grounds that the thoroughfare was too small.

And finally and lastly Councillor Christensen tactfully suggested that it be named after some reeve "like yourself Mr. Reeve."

It ended by the councillors choosing the name "Heald Street," the name of a former councillor—Albert Heald.

Ex-P.O.W. Writes City In Gratitude

Butcher Closing By-Law Invalid; Must Be Repealed

The by-law passed recently by the City Council authorizing all-day Wednesday closing for butcher stores is invalid and should be repealed, Ald. Edward Williams, chairman of the finance committee, told Monday's meeting of the City Council.

This came out when the Safe-way Stores, who stated they were of injunction was read from the Supreme Court of B.C. to have the by-law quashed.

Although the by-law is not valid, the City Council cannot, under the terms of the Shops Regulation and Weekly Half Holiday Act repeal it unless 51 per cent of the original petitioners ask for the repeal, Mayor Percy George pointed out, putting the council in a very unhappy position.

The butcher closing by-law has been subject of much controversy since it was first requested, and it was because the council took more than 30 days to get it passed after initial introduction that it is now invalid, A. J. Patton, city solicitor, explained.

He said that the best solution for all concerned would be for the butchers to ask repeal of the present by-law and then repitition for a new one that would be passed and be valid. In this way there would be no case against the city and the butchers would have a by-law which will stand the test of court action.

If the case goes to court and Safeway wins, the city will be forced to pay all costs, he said. Ald. H. M. Diggon at first saw no reason to repeal the by-law at present suggesting that the council should wait and see if Safeway will proceed with the action. When the situation was more fully explained he favored repeal.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar questioned if the shoe store closing by-law passed earlier in the meeting was any more valid than the butcher by-law.

Ald. W. L. Morgan questioned, if many of the city by-laws would stand the test of court action if the 30-day rule were strictly enforced. He suggested that immediate request be made to the provincial government for an amendment to the Municipal Act which would allow a 60-day period instead of the 30-day period between introduction and final passage.

Managers Match Strategy, Wits As Cards, Brooks Open Playoff

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Throw out 154 games and a 14 to 8 season edge for St. Louis over Brooklyn and start the real 1946 National League race today as managers Eddie Dyer and Leo Durocher match wits and strategy in the opener of a three-game tie playoff—the first ever held in major league baseball.

Howie Pollet, the Cardinals' ailing No. 1 hurler, probably holds the key to the situation in the aching muscles of his left side. The slender southpaw has been poison to the Brooks.

Dyer won't know if Pollet, who has been knocked out of the box by Chicago in his last two starts, can take his turn until he lets him warm up in the Sportsman Park before the game.

If he's "right," Pollet will pitch and Card supporters—who have made their favorites a surprising 13 to 20 choice will breathe more easily. If not, Dyer will fall back on Murry Dickson, a wiry righthander who has beaten the Dodgers three times and lost once on relief.

DODGERS' MASTER PLAN

There is no key figure holding the fate of the Dodgers' master plan. It is based on Durocher's hunches and uncanny ability to call on the right men at the right time. Brimming with confidence, as usual, the Dodger manager has picked Ralph Branca, a 20-year-old collegian, to hurl the vital game. Branca has been extremely effective against the Birds.

Durocher's prize gamble of the year involved Branca in his last start against St. Louis, on Sept. 14. Branca spun a three-hit, 5 to 0 shutout. It was the kid's first complete game of the year.

The teams go to Brooklyn for the second game Thursday and a third game Friday, if necessary.

HUGH FULLERTON JR. SAYS:

Boston Red Sox will keep in trim for the World Series by playing an American League All-Stars... If you can judge by the interleague all-star affair last summer, the Cards and Dodgers might do better by forgetting their playoff and combining their forces in hopes of assembling one team that would give the Red Soxers an argument... The Bums, without Pete Reiser, hardly look as if they could do it and, the way the Cards have

Earnest research by Ernest Lanigan, the baseball historian, fails to prove conclusively whether or not Bob Feller broke Rube Waddell's strikeout record. Ernie went through the Sporting Life file and hit a figure of 347 whiffs for Rube in 1904. Cliff Kachline of the Sporting News came up with the same total, but the figures for some games weren't the same... Other researchers made it 348, 349 and 351. The record book figure is 343. # Angling and Hunting

By 'CAP' THORSEN

Cowichan Bay was a scene of great activity Sunday with hundreds of anglers out in craft ranging from super-launches to the row-your-own variety seeking the bay's fall offerings of the finny tribes.

Generally, fishing was fairly good. The coho supply is gradually improving and the pros at the up-island sport-fishing resort figure the first rain spell will produce "good coho fishing." The population of big springs was quite good and last Friday a healthy run of jacksprings entered the bay waters.

One of the most outstanding coho catches yesterday was that of dozen caught by Ed Mould of Vancouver. He was using a herring strip and a flasher, the lure that is being so successful up Campbell River way with the same fish. Among the weekend's heavy-spring catches were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hallberg with 26 and 27½ pound specimens. E. Oano, Vancouver, caught the first salmon of his life, a 26½-pounder. Mrs. Platt of Vancouver has won her silver button by catching a 14½ pound coho on a fly. E. Lowe, San Francisco, gets a bronze button for catching a 12 pound coho on a fly. He also caught a 11½ pound coho on the same lure. E. Naylor of Vancouver scored a 14½ pound specimen in the bay waters also. Elbeck Wilson and Stan Williams checked in with a pair of salmon.

Yesterday the car traffic involving the angling can resulted in a solid mass of cars parked end-to-end on either side of the road fronting the bay.

OFF OAK BAY, WATERFRONT GENERALLY

Off Oak Bay and generally around the greater city's waterfront the offer is still chiefly grise. The odd coho is still being caught, but anglers are convinced this run missed the boat this year. John Lund was among the more fortunate, landing seven and eight-pound specimens Wednesday with three ounces of weight and a McKnight spoon off Chink Point. Off Clover Point last week, Jim Tuttle hooked into four coho, landed none and lost Tom Mack and Chino spoons and a green-white bucktail fly in the bargain. On the change of tide Friday evening Ron Prothero hooked and landed a 27 pound spring salmon off Chink Point. He was using a pound of weight.

BREVIETTES

Fish... and the odd chip: Jimmy Gilbert, son of Brentwood's pro Harry, found dogfish profitable last midweek. He jumped into run of them off Whittaker's Point, caught 28 and sold their livers for $4.50... Our chummy whale seems to have taken a keen liking to Saanich Inlet. He's still cruising those waters. Lots of speculation on why it continues to loiter there. One viewpoint which at least sounds reasonable, is that he chose coastal waters to recuperate from what Hugh Creed figures is a nasty harpoon wound... George Mann's tall tales have caught up with him. In the mail recently he got an article which is identified as the grand prize as the world's "champion liar"... Friends or Roger Montelli will be glad to hear that he has left the hospital today after a most successful operation... From Harry Woolston, president of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, we learn that 104 members put in claims for buttons this year. The breakdown is: One gold (Ken Dicks), seven silver and 96 bronze... Reason why many members who put in claims for button have not received them is because the buttons are in the shortage picture. "But we'll have them in the mail this week," promises Woolston.

THE HUNTING WORLD

Ted McConnan, secretary of the Victoria-Fish and Game Protective Association, reports a good program lined up for the association meeting tomorrow night at 8 in the Boiler-makers' Hall, Government Street. Chief item is presentation of prizes to the winners in the recent fish derby. A big turnout of members is looked for.

GAMIE KILL FIGURES

Hunters are getting to that stage where they are "clamming up" on what and where they get their deer and blue grouse bags, but from Duncan office of the game commission it is learned that in spite of the reported reduction in the grouse flocks in the Cowichan area, hunters did exceedingly well during the two opening days... Game Warden Frank Weir checked 1,036 blues shot in the Hill 60 Sept. 14. On

Locals To Experiment On 13-Man Play-Streamlining Rugby Scheme

At an organization meeting Monday evening to map the new season's program, members of the Victoria Rugby Union decided on a "go slow" policy with regard to adopting the mooted plan of making English rugby squads 13-man units instead of the present 15.

President Archie Gibbs reported that all clubs affiliated with the B.C.R.U. have been requested to state and give opinions on whether they favor the 13-man team.

On the mainland, he said, officials viewed the 13-man plan as a play-streamlining effect which made the game more attractive to the customers. The parring would eliminate the two breaking forwards who are considered as play-spilling influences. Local B.C. union representative Arthur Cox noted Vancouver has instituted the 13-man game for one of its cup schedules for the last two years "and they inform us it is their opinion the scheme speeded up the game."

TO EXPERIMENT FIRST

But, in spite of these good reports from over the water, the locals decided the best thing was to experiment personally before giving a decision either way. Oak Bay Wanderers' Coach Campbell Forbes and Maj. A. G. Dobbie spoke in opposition to the proposal. The B.C.R.U. will use the Cowichan Cup series to experiment with the 13-men idea and continue to play 15-man teams in the Barnard Cup schedule.

It was learned at the meeting that there will be 15 teams, from seniors down to juniors, playing rugby in the 1946-47 season, and probably three more.

J.B.A.A., managed by Bert Buller, which fought its way to provincial club laurels last season, and Oak Bay Wanderers, will be back in the senior company this year. There will be at least one team wearing navy colors and possibly two between the R.C.N. and Naval College cadets.

In the intermediate division, Victoria College, Bays and Cadets are sure entries. Wanderers are straining every effort to put a team in this loop.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTRY GOOD

In the Greater Victoria High School Rugby League—the juniors in charge of Joe Roberts,

Joe Andrews and Hugh Farquhar—the union heard there is a big entry. Saanich making its first appearance in the league. Entries are: Mt. View, Mt. Douglas, Oak Bay High (two teams), Victoria High (two teams) and Esquimalt. Mt. Newton is another probable starter in this bracket.

The meeting set October 19 as the tentative date for the opening of the new season.

The union was not altogether in favor of pushing the McKee Cup schedule back as the season's tailpiece, as was suggested at the B.C. meeting. Members wanted the major league games on holidays during the season as in the past. However, in the event the B.C. body rules to push McKee Cup games back to end of the season, the locals will seek intercity holiday games.

Bunny Hurn was introduced as the new secretary of the union.

CALIFORNIA INVASION PLANNED

An item of keen interest was the fact Varsity plans on sending a team south to play California in February, that the B.C.R.U. also plans to send a squad south to the "sunny state" and to invite California to the province for international games early next year.

Hockey Snapshots

From the way the boys are signing contracts without an (audible) kick, the N.H.L. bigwigs must be coming through with the promised wage boosts to go with the extended 60-game schedule. So far the only player tagged a "holdout" was Alex Kaleta and the left winger's dispute with Chicago wound up in jig time last week.

Nine more players affixed their John Henry's to Detroit contracts yesterday and that means the Red Wings have 15 signed already with three to come—none of whom manager Jack Adams expects to be hold-outs. Arrival of big Jack Stewart, given extra leave to gather in the sheaves at Manitoba wheat farm, meanwhile means that the Wings have their entire 1946 season starting complement on hand at training camp.

With Maurice (the Rocket) Richard and three others signing Montreal Canadiens' contracts yesterday, general manager Frank Selke says he expects the remainder of the 1946 team will join up today. The other three making it definite yesterday were Frankie Edmonds and Leo Lamoureux, both veteran defencemen, and centre Johnny Gaulty.

Fleeting fame: Johnny Quilty, the Ottawa flash who veteran hockey observers predicted would be one of the all-time greats when he won the Calder Rookie Trophy in his first N.H.L. season six years ago, is essaying a comeback after four years in the R.C.A.F. Reports from the Montreal Canadiens training camp say he is showing flashes of his old-time form and may catch a secondary-line berth.

At Winnipeg, Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League made it two straight by whipping the United States League Minneapolis Millers, 6 to 5, last night in the second of their two-game exhibition series.

Situations vacant: Openings for two alert young hockey players were all Chicago Black Hawks had left today after signing 11 of their 1945-46 team and three newcomers yesterday. The new Hawks are defencemen Leo Reiss of Brantford, Ont., and Wingy Johnston, both members of last year's Kansas City Plamors, along with goalie Paul Bibeault, bought from Montreal Canadiens.

A little later than the others, Boston Bruins are due to open their training camp at Hershey, Pa., today. Practices will be open to the public and the railbirds are waiting to see such favorites as Bill Cowley, Frank (Mr. Zero) Brimsek, Terry Reardon and the Kitchener line of Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Porky Dumart swing into action.

Toronto Maple Leafs showed a new acquisition at their St. Catharines, Ont., camp yesterday in Wally Wilson, 25-year-old centre who was one of the leading American Hockey League scorers last season. Working between Nick Metz and Joe Klukay, he got a goal in his first workout.

George Norgan Buys Klepper's Shares

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—William H. Klepper, long associated with Pacific Coast League baseball, was temporarily out of the game today.

The vice-president and general manager of the Portland club had announced that he had sold his one-third interest and resigned his dual post with the Beavers. His interest was purchased by George W. Norgan, Vancouver, B.C., brewery owner and associate, who already held controlling interest in the Portland Club.

Klepper purchased the Portland Club in 1921, sold to the Thomas Shibe-Connie Mack interests in 1925, repurchased in 1942 from E. J. Sheffer.

Under the Klepper-Norgan regime, the club has reached league playoffs in three successive years and won the pennant last year. Portland tied with Seattle for seventh place this season.

Wulff Bags Cougar

Large Entry List In Local Basketball Loop

Entries closed in all divisions of the Victoria and District Basketball League Monday night with 34 teams entered, three less than the record entry of last year.

The Canadian champion Dominoes headed the list in the senior A division, Harold Turner's K.V.s will be back, and the two new teams are the Canadian Legion, last year's senior B champions, and the Army and Navy Vets, composed mostly of last season's Alcos and managed by Wally Smith.

The senior B division again proved popular with six entries being received, Navy, Brentwood Aces, Chinese Students, St. Louis College Alumni, Aces and Bruisers being the teams entered.

Officials announced that no entries will be accepted except those bearing the postmark of Monday, Sept. 30. All managers are asked to contact Frank Elliott before purchasing strip so as to avoid confusion in team colors this season.

The opening of the league has been left in the hands of the executive who are awaiting word from the school board re-allocation of nights at the High School gym.

Tillicums Fail In Bid For Boxla Title

Victoria's Tillicum Athletic Club boxla septette of junior company coached by Sid Anderson failed in their efforts to net the provincial crown in this company Monday evening when they bowed to defeat 17 to 9 at the hands of Vancouver Junior Burards in the final game in Nanaimo.

Tillicums won the first game of the best-of-three series, lost the second and third.

It was a rough and bruising battle Monday night with the penalty "can" well-populated throughout—52 minutes in penalties being handed out.

Burrards took over the lead early and stayed there. They were ahead 3 to 1 at the first quarter end and two sessions later were on top 10 to 7. Penalties were handed out liberally to the Tacs for infractions in the final quarter and the mainlanders took advantage of their opposition's player shortage on the floor to romp through with an eight-point victory.

WONDER 7 SPOON NAILS, BIG ONE

Well-known Cowichan fishing guide Dennis Gaunt hit the lime light last week when he landed a 21-pound coho—which is somewhere in the vicinity of a record in these parts. He caught it on a No. 7 Wonder spoon and as a result could not qualify for a Cowichan Bay Coho Flying Club diamond button awarded for fish of this species taken over 18 pounds and up. Reason: Awards are made only for catches by flies.

Salmonbellies Drop Opener To St. Kits

TORONTO (CP)—Maybe there were more exciting lacrosse powwows when Indians ran barefoot to found the sport as Canada's national game, but since it acquired indoor trimmings it's doubtful if two Dominion title contestants ever raced to the wire closer than when St. Catharines Athletics edged New Westminster Salmonbellies 11 to 10 in the current Mann Cup series opener.

The St. Catharines section of the 7,000 fans which saw the saints cut loose with a brilliant passing attack to snatch victory in the closing minutes last night will talk in barber shops for years about the way their hero Jack (Wandy) McMahon, moving backwards towards the western net to see his mates all covered, suddenly swerved to flip the winning goal from over his head.

Wandy's important counter—his second of the night—gave the Athletics a one-game lead in the best-of-five series which finds the teams facing each other again in Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday night. Despite their spectacular win the Saints will enter the contest only slight favorites, so impressive were the Salmonbellies who saw a two-goal advantage wiped out as the A's bagged three markers in less than two and one-half minutes in the final period.

ST. KITS STOCK MAY SOAR

St. Catharines stock may soar if the Canadian Lacrosse Association meeting Wednesday looks favorably on an application to reinstate the Saints' regular goalie, Bill Whitaker. He was suspended in Vancouver last year for striking a referee when the Athletics bowed to Vancouver Burrards. With sanction of the Ontario Lacrosse Association he played with the Saints till they reached the eastern finals.

EYELID CYSTS CLOSELY RESEMBLE STYES

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

A cyst of an eyelid (chalazion) is an enlargement of a small gland which follows stoppage of its duct. It is more common in adults than in children, and it is usually confused with a stye.

A chalazion requires weeks or months to develop, and there are few symptoms until it reaches the approximate size of a pea. Then a hard swelling, over which the skin moves freely, may be detected. The patient may think it is a stye, but cannot account for the absence of inflammation.

Cysts rarely disappear, and removal is recommended, for if allowed to remain they may become secondarily infected, and irritate the eyeball.

At first, medicine is applied externally and massage and hot compresses are tried, generally without success.

LION LEAPED AT BOER HUNTER AND CLAWED HIS FACE

The claws of spiders have been called "more complicated than those of lions." Yet the clawlike parts of a spider's feet are very tiny compared to a lion's claws. Only by using a microscope can we tell clearly that spiders have anything in the nature of claws on their feet.

The large, strong claws of a lion are useful to the beast when it is fighting. Afterward the claws are pulled back into the feet until they are hidden or almost hidden from view. Walking about peacefully, or in search of game, the lion steps on the pads of his feet and makes hardly any noise.

People usually find themselves safe from lions. Most of these beasts seem to fear men, and will move away when they see a human being coming. Perhaps news of the deadly weapons carried by men has spread through the lion tribe.

There are, however, exceptions. Man-eating lions, as well as man-eating tigers, exist. Old lions which have become too slow to capture zebras or antelopes are blamed for most of the man-eating.

The attacks on people are made almost entirely at night, but cases of daylight attacks are on record. In South Africa a Boer hunter was riding along one day, with several native Kafirs following him on foot. Suddenly, a lion sprang at him. The Boer had an elephant gun in his right hand, but the attack came too quickly for him to use it. The lion clawed him on his left cheek, and he fell to the ground.

One might have expected the lion to leap on the helpless hunter at this time. Instead of doing that it trotted away to a distance of about 20 yards, then turned to look at its victim. Possibly the animal had been frightened by the shouts of the Kafirs. In any case the Boer kept his senses and now fired his gun with careful aim. The lion fell to the ground, dead.

Most of the human victims of African lions are Negro natives. In southern Africa and most other parts where whites live, these animals have been killed off.

Query B.C. Shipyards On Construction Of Third C.P.R. Ship

The C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Steamship Service is making inquiries as to the possibility of B.C. shipyards being able to design and construct a turbo-electric-powered passenger vessel for service on this coast, according to company officials.

In a letter mailed to the shipyards, the B.C.C.S.S. outlines the general type of vessel being considered by the company and asks the shipyards to consider if they could handle the job.

It has been known for some time that the company planned to build another ship for the Nanaimo-Vancouver service, in addition to the two vessels now being built on the Clyde by the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company. Top C.P.R. officials have been on the coast surveying the site for a new dock in connection with the proposed third vessel.

The new Nanaimo-Vancouver ferry will be specially designed to handle automobiles.

The C.P.R. announcement concerning the turbo-electric driven vessel was made following a statement Monday afternoon by Ald. W. L. Morgan, who informed the City Council the C.P.R. was considering a third vessel.

Sir John Anderson In Victoria Today

Co-ordinator of Britain's atomic research, and a member of the British war cabinet until Churchill's defeat, Sir John Anderson, 64, accompanied by Lady Anderson, arrived here from Vancouver on the 3.45 boat this afternoon.

Sir John's name came to common usage in every British household during the war when Anderson shelters were constructed in every London and bomb-perilled British city backyard.

He joined the government service in 1905. During his government career, he distinguished himself as an administrator in Ireland and later as Governor of Bengal, where three assassination attempts were made against his person.

During World War II, Sir John became Lord President of the Council and, until 1945, was Chancellor of the Exchequer. He is a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Sir John and Lady Anderson are expected to stay two days in Victoria before returning to the mainland.

10 Plead Before Appeal Court Here

Appeals against criminal convictions, ranging from attempted murder to burglary with violence opened today when 10 prisoners appeared before the Court of Appeal to plead their cases.

Russell McNeill, Vancouver, found guilty of being in the possession of housebreaking instruments, was the first prisoner to appear. The court dismissed his appeal on grounds that he had failed to give a satisfactory excuse for being in the possession of the tools.

Among the appellants was Laurence A. Gilmore of Vancouver, convicted of shooting with intent to murder and robbery with violence and sentenced by an Assize Court to 15 years. The court has yet to rule on the appeal.

Franklyn Nelson Upton, lumberman who celebrated a 10-day holiday in Vancouver and ended up in jail after being involved in a fight with a Vancouver toll bridge keeper, also came up for hearing.

The court reduced his sentence from one year to six months.

Others listed to appear before the court are Holly Clayton Sharpe, Vancouver, convicted of breaking and entering; Victor William Ashton and Alexander Shinnon, both sentenced to penitentiary for robbery with violence; John Boyd Darlyn, found guilty of conspiracy to defraud; Raymond McLeod, convicted of breaking and entering; Laurence S. Hood, found guilty of obtaining money under false pretence, and Roderick H. Fraser, convicted of robbery with violence.

Michael Dederer, Seattle, will address the meeting on vital subjects confronting fur farmers, and will show a moving picture of various branches of the fur trade, and Norman Boyd, Vancouver, will speak on the advantages of fur shows to the farmers.

Wide Range Of Emotions Shown By Nazis As Sentences Passed

NUERNBERG (AP) — Rudolf Hess, to the end the posturing crackpot of the war crimes trial, brushed aside earphones that would have told him whether he was to live or die, and stared blankly ahead of him as a stern judge sentenced him to life imprisonment.

One by one, 21 once haughty Nazi leaders were marched before the bar of the International Military Tribunal to hear their fate.

Goering retained his fierce reserve. Gone were his flamboyant trappings—his medals, his glittering uniform, his field marshal's baton—as he strode into the courtroom between two military policemen. His shabby grey suit hung limply about him.

Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, cold and impersonal, gazed sternly at the No. 2 Nazi chieftain and sentenced him to die on the gallows. Under the pitiless glare of the Kleig lights, not a muscle of Goering's face moved.

RIBBENTROP NEEDS HELP

Joachim von Ribbentrop, the dandy of the Nazi cabinet who as foreign minister once strutted proudly across Europe's diplomatic stage, was stunned when he heard his death sentence. Grey and sickly, he had to be helped from the room by military police.

Aging Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Hitler's military yes-man, heard his doom silently. When the court pronounced the death sentence, he turned silently and went back through the small door in the dock.

Tall, hulking Ernest Kaltenbrunner, once chief of the dread Gestapo, still looked easily the fiercest of the defendants. He bowed ironically when the court sentenced him to be hanged.

The man who scoured occupied Russia, Nazi "philosopher" Alfred Rosenberg, straightened his coat, folded his hands and waited impassively until his sentence of death was read.

Stocky Hans Frank, killer of thousands of Jews, nodded curtly when the judge sentenced him to the gallows.

STREICHER IMMOBILE

The most hated man in the dock—hated by the defendants themselves—was Jew baiter Julius Streicher, the screaming fanatic of the Nazi press. He was immobile when he was condemned. Because he had been found guilty on only one count, it was thought for a time he might escape death.

Wilhelm Frick, one-time Nazi street fighter who became the "Protector of Bohemia and Moravia" under Hitler, looked haggard as sentence of death was pronounced, but like Kaltenbrunner, he bowed to the court.

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, who planned the Nazi domination of the sea and the attacks on Norway and Denmark, remained as impassive as he had been throughout the trial as the court doomed him.

His successor, Grand Admiral

FRANZ VON PAPPEN acquitted.

Karl Doenitz, who became Fuehrer of Germany in the last days of the war, without emotion heard himself sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. The lightness of the sentence imposed on the Nazi submarine chief surprised many spectators.

FUNK SHABBLI CLOTHED

Shabby Walther Funk, one-time economics minister, looked more like a comic strip character than a once powerful cog in a grim war machine. He shot a disgusted look at the court as he heard himself sentenced to life in prison.

Baldur von Schirach, chief of the Hitler Youth, was hustled off quickly by his two military police guards when the Tribunal sentenced him to 20 years. He looked angry.

Next into the hot courtroom came the tough Nazi labor boss and enslaver of millions, Fritz Sauckel. He greeted his death sentence with an ostentatious sneer.

Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, whose ample diary of his association with Hitler helped convict himself and his co-conspirators, stared languidly at the gallows in the same dispassionate monotone. The presiding judge, as he did with all the others, looked the prisoner squarely in the eye.

Arthur Seyss-Inquart, clung tensely with both hands to the railing on the dock as he heard his death sentence. With a palpable effort the former gauleiter of The Netherlands and Austria controlled his emotions.

VON NEURATH STOOPE

Old and worn, former Foreign Minister Constantin von Neurath looked limp in his dark clothing, as he heard himself sentenced to 15 years—virtually life imprisonment—considering his age.

When the last pair of military policemen departed, Von Neurath passed the sentence of death upon the absent Deputy Fuehrer, Martin Bormann, and ended the historic 10-month session by announcing the dissenting Russian opinion, which will have no effect on the present judgments.

U.S. Shipping Paralyzed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new United States maritime strike paralyzed ocean shipping today, the government having given up at 4 a.m., E.S.T., its final efforts to produce an agreement before daybreak.

The Labor Department scheduled new talks for later today, but already crews were quitting their ships.

Hope of averting the second

port tie-up in less than a month crumbled Monday night, when shipowners rejected the demands of two unions of merchant marine officers for a more favorable hiring system.

Even after that, federal conciliations kept union leaders and east coast shipowners in session four hours past the midnight strike deadline, seeking a separate eastern agreement.

Canvassers Here Urged to 'Sell' Chest Ideals; $9,000 Already In

With almost $9,000 already in the coffers of the Community Chest from the special names division, the 600 canvassers set out in Victoria's brilliant autumn sunshine today to start the drive to raise $100,000 for the 23 member agencies of the Community Chest.

At a rally held in the Sirocco Monday evening, attended by 250 of the chest workers, the aims and objects of a number of the chest agencies were explained, while the need for putting the drive over the top within the eight-day period was stressed.

Mayor Percy George, who accepted the pledge flag of the red feather on a white ground, symbol of the service and sacrifice of the agencies, on behalf of the citizens of Greater Victoria, stressed canvassers should not go out with the idea that they were collecting money, but rather that they were interesting their fellow citizens in human welfare.

"If you sell the ideals of the Community Chest you will find that the people will give generously and voluntarily so that this great work can be continued," he said.

Denis Hagar, chairman of the Community Chest, told the gathering that such groups as theirs "are the backbone of every community in Canada, be-

Record-Breaking Non-Stop Flight, 11,237 Miles, Ends

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The "Trucent Turtle," U.S. navy patrol bomber, landed at Port Columbus at 11.25 a.m., C.S.T., today, completing a record-breaking non-stop flight of 11,237 miles from Perth, Australia. The unofficial elapsed time was 55 hours and 18 minutes.

The twin-engine Lockheed Neptune P2V, carrying a crew of four men and a baby kangaroo, thereby exceeded by 3,321 miles the non-stop mark of 7,916 miles set last November by the U.S. army's B29 "Dreamboat."

On hand to greet the long-distance fliers were delegations of navy officials who had flown here from Washington and Chicago.

The fliers, headed by Cmdr. Thomas D. Davies of Cleveland, were given a physical examination for fatigue immediately.

Then they were to relate their experiences to newspapermen.

Von Papen, Others To Stand Trial By People Of Germany

NUERNBERG (AP)—Dr. Wilhelm Hoegner, Minister-President of Bavaria, told the German people tonight that Franz von Papen faces trial by a Denazification board if he remains in the United States occupation zone.

Dr. Hoegner, broadcasting soon after Von Papen had been acquitted by the International Military Tribunal, said the former diplomat would be brought before German authorities and "that means he will be condemned for several years at hard labor."

Dr. Hoegner later told reporters he had given orders to German authorities that similar Denazification action would be taken against Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank, and Hans Fritzsche, ex-Nazi propagandist, if they remained within his jurisdiction. They also were acquitted by the Military Tribunal.

Dr. Hoegner continued: "I consider the acquittal of Von Papen a most astonishing thing. I consider him the real instigator of the Third Reich."

Von Papen was German Chancellor before Hitler, and urged old President Paul von Hindenburg to appoint Hitler his successor.

Dr. Hoegner said he "supposed" the British, Russian and French zones also would institute Denazification action against the three acquitted defendants, depending on where they decide to establish residence.

Prosecutors Regret Von Papen Acquitted

NUERNBERG (AP) — Members of Allied prosecution staffs also made it plain unofficially that they were not too happy about some of the verdicts delivered by the International Military Tribunal.

The acquittal of Franz von Papen, smooth diplomat who led German intrigue in two wars, ranked most of them.

Several prosecutors expressed no opinion and brushed questions aside brusquely.

Rudolf Dix, German lawyer for Hjalmar Schacht, said the acquittal of his client was what he had expected all along and "it followed what I have been contending throughout the trial."

Franz von Papen Jr. smiled broadly at the verdict. Counsel for Hans Fritzsche did not comment.

The immediate reaction of the first dozen Germans interviewed here as the verdicts were announced was surprise that any of the defendants had been wholly acquitted.

"That's really something," said four of the persons questioned when told that Hjalmar Schacht, Von Papen and Hans Fritzsche had been found innocent.

These Germans said they had expected the trio "would receive some degree of punishment."

Among the German staff of the Associated Press bureau here, the greatest surprise was expressed over the acquittal of Von Papen and Fritzsche.

Monthly meeting of Laundry Workers, Local No. 41, C.C.L., will be held at 902 Government Street at 8 Wednesday night.

Butlers for the Family Welfare Association.

Cyril Wightman, chairman of the publicity committee, detailed what had been done through press, radio and poster services to publicize the campaign. Ed Whyte was chairman of the rally and entertainment was provided by J. J. Matheson, singer, and the "Home Towners" led by Don Oliver. Other artists were Bob McGill, Fred Usher, Ernie Fullerton and Bill Botten.

Communications Cut, Trees Toppled By Snow, Wind In East

TORONTO (CP)—An early morning fall of wet, sticky snow, accompanied by a high wind, disrupted communications and toppled trees today in the Ottawa valley and as far west as Brockville, Ont.

The Dominion meteorological office here said the storm developed Monday near the southern New England coast and centred early today in New Brunswick.

In Toronto, wind "gusts" of up to 55 miles an hour were recorded.

Telegraph companies reported interruptions in direct circuits between Toronto and Montreal and Ottawa, but dispatches said normal service likely would be resumed soon.

Steel Strike May End Thursday As Union Casts Vote

HAMILTON (CP)—While steelworkers voted today on acceptance or rejection of settlement proposals embodying a 13-cent-an-hour pay rise in the basic steel industry, it appeared the 11-week-old tie-up would end Thursday.

But when full production could be resumed in the giant steel mills of the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton, at the Dominion Steel & Coal Corporation in Sydney, N.S., and the Algoma Steel Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was another matter.

The only certainty was that some time must elapse before the mills could return to full output.

Algoma officials said normal production could be regained in approximately four weeks. In Hamilton H. G. Hilton, Steelco president, said repair work requiring several weeks for completion could delay attainment of capacity steel production.

Chinese Injured

Chu Hany Ding, 515 Cormorant Street, an employee of the James Bay Lumber Company, was taken to Jubilee Hospital at 8.45 this morning suffering hip injuries received when thrown off his feet on the log deck of the mill, city police reported.

CHICAGO (AP)—Oats rallied from the day's low toward the close today, but corn, which led all grains in a downward swing, at the start of trading, encountered profit-taking on the rallies.

The advance in corn was more of a drying-up of selling orders than active demand. There was little interest in the wheat pit.

Directs Picture From Own Scenario

John Huston, Walter Huston's tall and lanky 35-year-old son, has had the most complete satisfaction that a screen writer can know.

He directed a motion picture from his own screen play and working scene for scene, from his own preliminary sketches.

His story is "The Maltese Falcon," now being shown at the Dominion Theatre with Humphrey Bogart, Mary Astor, Peter Lorre, Gladys George and other seasoned actors. The camera man was Arthur Edson and the assistant director Jack Sullivan, both of whom have been in motion pictures for almost 30 years.

Randolph Hokanson Began Career Here

Randolph Hokanson, celebrated American pianist, who is scheduled to perform at a concert at the Empress Hotel Wednesday night, has high regard for Victoria and its people.

The youthful musician disclosed that his career and his first concert tour began in this city. And now his first postwar concert tour begins in Victoria.

"You know my first tour began here after having studied in Europe and I have many happy memories of Victoria and its people," he said. "Among those who were particularly kind to me on the eve of my departure for England to study were the late Harold Samuel, Mrs. J. O. Cameron, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. W. Nichol and Mrs. T. A. Rickard."

Mr. Hokanson, who served during the war with the American Signal Corps, has just recently been released from the army.

While in France, he served as interpreter of French and German and on one occasion while crossing the English Channel, his ship was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine.

"I didn't get much of a chance to play in Europe," he said. "However, after V-E Day I played a few concerts in and around Marseilles where I was stationed."

Questioned as to the production and composition of music in Great Britain, the pianist said that never in the history of England had there been so many English composers.

"Music was kept alive in England during the war," he said, "and this was largely due to the efforts of Dame Myra Hess who was knighted for her work in this respect."

"There is a lot of creative work going on in England," he added, "but I can't say the same for France. Musical production and composition appeared to me to have dropped in France as the result of the war."

McAdam Returning To London Soon

W. A. McAdam, British Columbia's Agent-General in London, who returned here from overseas last May 15 for a holiday and rest, will leave within a week for London.

Mr. McAdam, a friend of thousands of British Columbia servicemen overseas during the war, will return to Britain aboard the ship Argentina, leaving Vancouver for a voyage via the Panama Canal.

Thursday night the provincial cabinet will entertain Mr. and Mrs. McAdam, and Mrs. Ena Anderson, officer of the Beaver Club, at a dinner.

Mr. McAdam, since his return to British Columbia, has toured the province, speaking to many clubs and organizations.

Little Theatre Seeking Members

Seeking increased membership, the Victoria Little Theatre is offering classes and lectures in all forms of theatrical work during the season which is now starting.

"The Victoria Little Theatre has in past years built up a fine standard of play production," the organization said in a statement issued today. "It is confident that the 1946-47 season will be the finest yet, paving the way for bigger and better productions in years to come. This can only be attained by greatly increased membership."

"The Little Theatre is in need of scene-painters, backstage workers, designers and all categories of stage personnel."

Rehearsals for this season already are under way. First item on the new program will be a Workshop Evening, Oct. 23, when two one-act plays will be presented.

Five major productions are scheduled for the season. Secretary-treasurer of the Little Theatre is H. J. Reynolds, at the Bank of Montreal, Douglas and Yates Street.

Scores At Reception Bid Adieu To Service

Scores of civil servants, having reached the 65 years' retirement age, Monday bade farewell to their employer, the provincial government, at a cocktail party at the Empress Hotel.

The retiring civil servants, ranging in rank from deputy ministers to clerks and janitors, shook hands with Premier John Hart and members of the provincial executive council.

Premier Hart, toasting their health and happiness, said: "I want on behalf of my colleagues and myself to extend to you our gratitude for your loyal service to the public. Let me on behalf of my colleagues and myself extend to you our very best wishes for your happiness in the future."

Frank Schl, responding to the toast, said only within the last five years had the civil servants gained anything like the recognition from the government that they deserved.

The toast was followed by three rousing cheers for the Premier and the cabinet.

Thanks to Elizabeth Taylor, 12-year-old Bobby Thompson, confined in an iron lung, will have an autograph book inscribed with messages of cheer from nearly every star and featured player at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Upon hearing of the plight of the boy Elizabeth began the book. She started her name quest on the set of "Courage of Lassie."

her new picture, which is now at the Royal Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Although there is an industry rule governing the length of time a kiss may last on the screen, there's no rule about quantity—which at the moment is rather nice—for Dennis Morgan, currently co-starring with Ann Sheridan, Jack Carson, Alexis

Smith and Jane Wyman in Warner's "One More Tomorrow" at the Capitol.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

The ancient city of Memphis, in which much of the action of Bernard Shaw's play, "Caesar and Cleopatra" takes place, was the site of many of the historic pyramids. In Gabriel Pascal's magnificent film version of this famous play, Vivien Leigh, as the youthful Cleopatra, often visited the Sphinx—which stood in the desert just outside this city. G.C.F. is presenting this technicolor film currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

YORK THEATRE

Had it not been for the alertness of a Santa Monica beach lifeguard some months ago, former Miss America Rosemary La Planche would not now be emoting on the screen of the York Theatre in "Devil Bat's Daughter."

A cramp caught up with Rosemary when she was over two miles off shore.
